INTRODUCTION

The Journal of Nepal Medical Association (JNMA) is an internationally peer reviewed, PubMed indexed, open access, bimonthly biomedical journal published by Nepal Medical Association. It is the first and oldest general medical journal since 1963.

The JNMA works under the belief that knowledge gained through scientific research and scientific advances should be shared and made universally accessible. Hence, it grants readers permission to read, download, copy, distribute, print, search and create links to the full text articles available online at www.jnma.com.np without any charge. Thereby, it also aims to increase the visibility and ease of use of open access scientific and scholarly articles so as to promote their increased usage and impact.

It publishes research based articles from the field of biomedical sciences including basic sciences and clinical disciplines, public health care management, ethical and social issues pertaining to health care. Preference is given to clinically oriented applied research, trials over animal studies.

Articles are published under the following categories: Original Article, Review Article, Case Report, Short Communication, Perspectives. The Editorial, Guest Editorial and Letter to the Editor are solicited by the editorial board.

Authors do not have to pay for submission, processing or publication of articles in JNMA.

THE EDITORIAL PROCESS

The submitted manuscripts are duly acknowledged and initially reviewed for possible publication by the Editors with the understanding that they are being submitted only to the JNMA, have not been published, simultaneously submitted or accepted for publication elsewhere. On an average, 30-40% of the manuscripts with insufficient originality or significant message, serious scientific and technical flaws are rejected. In case of a good article that has been written poorly, the authors are asked to resubmit after revision.

The manuscripts are then sent to two expert peer reviewers blinded to the contributor's identity and vice versa for meticulous review, inputs and comments. The final decision on whether to accept or reject the article are taken by the editorial board based on the peer reviewers' comments. The contributor's are informed about the rejection/acceptance of the manuscript with the peer reviewer's comments. Accepted articles have to be resubmitted after making the necessary changes or clarifying questions made during the peer review process.

The accepted articles are edited for grammatical, punctuation, print style and format errors and page proofs and are sent to the corresponding author who should return them within three days. Non response to galley proof may result in delay in publication or even rejection of the article.

INSTRUCTIONS TO AUTHORS

Manuscripts must be prepared in accordance with "Uniform requirements for Manuscripts submitted to Biomedical Journals" developed by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors. The uniform requirements and specific requirement of JNMA are summarized in our website www.jnma.com.np

Do not use patients' names, initials, or hospital numbers, especially in illustrative material.
